Bbi Golf Day

The Bbi Golf day was held at Cradoc Golf club on Wednesday 8th June and involved various clients and suppliers from the facilities community.

Cradoc Golf Club is situated alongside the spectacularly beautiful scenery of the Brecon Beacons National Park. Just 2 miles outside the historic market town of Brecon, the Club is easily accessible from the Midlands, S.W. England, South and West Wales.

The day involved some impressive golfing, as well as good fun, good food and good company.

Event winner

- Chris Williams (Powys Local Health Board)

Other winners of the day

- Nick Hill (Newlands Estate Agents)
- Mino Vernaschi (Orangebox)
- Stephen Hayes (Carleton Furniture Group)

Longest drive

- Mike Davis (Powys County Council)

Most dangerous player

- Tony Roberts (Bbi): warning to all regular golfers - please see photo to the left and for your own safety and well being avoid this man on the golf course at all cost!

Thank you to all who attended the day, I think we can agree that it was a resounding success and we look forward to seeing you all again in four months time...

Ergonomics

A Modern Problem

We're not designed to sit – or sit still. The I.T. revolution over the past 15 years has transformed the nature of business but has also anchored the workforce into static, slumped sitting positions.

Add the possibility of a work station that does not fit or is not adjusted to a job that may be repetitive and the result is more serious e.g. back pain or stress.

Bbi Provides Solutions

- Design interfaces which cater for more variety than ever before.
- Attention to stimulating environments and access to informal break out areas help stimulate work.
